

TAS Statement of Support for Science and 2017 Earth Day:

Founded in 1880, The Texas Academy of Science (TAS), originally known as the Academy of Science in Texas, is a long-standing apolitical, non-partisan organization whose mission, in part, is to promote scientific research and education in Texas colleges and universities. TAS celebrates the core values of science, a discipline that has provided amazing insights, understanding and advances for humanity. Furthermore, TAS recognizes that the integrity of science as a nonpartisan and research/educational endeavor is fundamental to the advancement of knowledge. TAS encourages all Texans to enjoy the various Science and Earth Day activities planned throughout the state on April 22, 2017, to support and celebrate science.
